

Weasels & Mink:

Issue – killing chickens

Notes – they can get through very small holes, so can get into chicken houses that have been secured against raccoons and foxes. They kill their prey by quickly biting through the skull or back of the neck. Some chickens will be missing their heads and they may be plucked, although this is normally done back at the den site.

Suggestions

- ▶ Fill even small holes in walls or fences around chickens.
- ▶ Secure area with ¼ inch hardware cloth.
